

First Impressions.

The largest detail on the home exterior, and often the first item someone sees as they approach your home, is the garage door. Haas Door's new Decorative Glass Collection ensures your home's first impression is a memorable one.

With on-trend glass designs that can accentuate any home style, paired with a beautiful bi-directional or uni-directional wood grain finish or your choice of 13 solid colors, the garage door becomes a focal point to enhance curb appeal and the value of your home. The decorative glass category is available in three designs – Modern Craft, Emerald, and Prairieview – and may be combined across six glass types to offer varying degrees of privacy. Additionally, Haas Door's various panel options provide the opportunity to create a truly unique look, with a personal touch.

Haas Door isn't just beautiful. Our products provide the performance and durability you expect. The decorative glass windows are available in tempered insulated and tempered non-insulated glass to meet the safety and insulation properties required for your climate conditions.

Let Haas Door help you tell an incredible story, without saying a word.

Features

Decorative Glass options can be used to accent design detail of the home. Modern Craft, shown above, mimics the arched window and brick patterns to complement the home features.

Haas Door has created designs to match existing home styles and new construction homes. We've tested the designs to provide three options that match the broadest array of current home trends from Farmhouse to Colonial and fit within regional differences.

We made them beautiful and practical. All of our decorative glass options are available in tempered insulated for homes in regions where temperatures can drastically change from season to season, or in pan door options for areas where the climate is more consistent. Haas Door also provides the designs in varying degrees of privacy, to ensure we have the right solution for your home.
